How was your last ride
with Muhammad Junaid
Ahsan?

Beneficence – Doing good to others

So today at 8:15 I booked a ride with Careem and was going out for an interview. As soon as I got out of My society I stopped at a Tobacco Shop to buy cigarettes and also to get change. As I walked upto the tobacco shop, I saw a guy kicking two people sitting down with their backs towards the wall as I took two more steps, the guy who was kicking, turned a bit and I saw him holding a gun. I immediately understood why everyone around was NOT taking any action against him. Suddenly he saw Me and he pointed his gun at Me and signaled Me to sit exactly where I was standing which I did. I had My music playing on My handsfree so I turned on the screen to stop the music when I felt something cold at the back of My neck. Suddenly someone asked Me to put the phone away and I realized that it was his accomplice and he had a gun resting at the upper end of My spine. I placed My phone on the road with My hands on My knees.

The 2nd guy went inside a mobile shop and the 1st guy was standing outside on watch when an old uncle probably in his early or mid 70s started confronting the 1st guy outside. Like other people, I saw My opportunity and walked maybe 35 or 40 steps away from the scene. As soon as I got away I called Junaid and told him to forget about the ride and go but he kept on asking if I was safe or not, I told him again to run but he kept on asking the same thing. Then all of a sudden there were multiple gun shots and the 1st guy got angry and shot that old uncle and when other people tried to grab him, he shot TWO more people down on the main road and started firing at everyone. I again told Junaid to run away as he was still on call with Me but he didn't. He asked Me to move back towards My society and he will pick Me up. He drove as fast as he possibly could, got on the wrong side of the road and came to Me in a minute and a half at the most whereas it would take a normal bike rider atleast 4 minutes.

Beneficence – Doing good to others

He picked Me up, checked Me for any wounds, asked if I was okay, continued with his ride and dropped Me safely at My drop off on time.

I saw death standing right infront of Me and it had no face, trust Me. We walk past so many heroes unknowingly. THIS story is for the one I met today and was saved by.

Thankyou Junaid from Me and on behalf of My family for saving My life, for NOT abandoning Me and for leaving such a huge impact on Me for the rest of My life. ♥

A Case for Discussion

- ▶ A trial lawyer was asked what he would do if he discovered that his client had committed a murder some years earlier for which another man had been wrongly convicted and would soon be executed
- ▶ The lawyer said that he had a legal obligation to keep this information confidential and that, if he divulged it, he would be disbarred
- ▶ Was his decision right according to professional ethics?

Moral Development

- ▶ Moral development is the gradual development of an individual's concept of right or wrong conscious, religious values, social attitudes and certain behavior

Lawrence Kohlberg

1927-1987

KOHLBERG'S SIX STAGES OF MORAL DEVELOPMENT

Moral Development Theory

Level 1 – Preconventional Morality

- Stage 1 – Obedience and punishment orientation
- Stage 2 - Individualism and orientation

Level 2 – Conventional Morality

- Stage 3 - Good interpersonal relationship
- Stage 4 - Maintaining the social order

Level 3 – Postconventional Mortality

- Stage 5 – Social contract and individual rights
- Stage 6 – Universal ethical principles

Moral Development Theory

- ▶ He used storytelling technique to tell people stories involving moral dilemmas
- ▶ In each case, he presented a choice to be considered, for example, between the rights of some authority and the needs of some deserving individual who is being unfairly treated
- ▶ One of the best known of Kohlberg's (1958) stories concerns a man called Heinz who lived somewhere in Europe

Moral Development Theory

- ▶ Heinz's wife was dying from a particular type of cancer. Doctors said a new drug might save her. The drug had been discovered by a local chemist, and the Heinz tried desperately to buy some, but the chemist was charging ten times the money it cost to make the drug, and this was much more than the Heinz could afford
- ▶ Heinz could only raise half the money, even after help from family and friends. He explained to the chemist that his wife was dying and asked if he could have the drug cheaper or pay the rest of the money later
- ▶ The chemist refused, saying that he had discovered the drug and was going to make money from it. The husband was desperate to save his wife, so later that night he broke into the chemist's and stole the drug

Moral Development Theory

- ▶ 1. Should Heinz have stolen the drug?
 - ▶ 2. Would it change anything if Heinz did not love his wife?
 - ▶ 3. What if the person dying was a stranger, would it make any difference?
 - ▶ 4. Should the police arrest the chemist for murder if the woman died?
- ▶ By studying the answers from children of different ages to these questions, Kohlberg hoped to discover how moral reasoning changed as people grew older. The sample comprised 72 Chicago boys aged 10–16 years, 58 of whom were followed up at three-yearly intervals for 20 years (Kohlberg, 1984)

Level 1: Pre-conventional Morality

► Stage 1. Obedience and Punishment Orientation

- Kohlberg's stage 1 is similar to Piaget's first stage of moral thought. The child assumes that powerful authorities hand down a fixed set of rules which he or she must unquestioningly obey
- When asked to elaborate, the child usually responds in terms of the consequences involved, explaining that stealing is bad "because you'll get punished"

Level 1: Pre-conventional Morality

- ▶ Stage 2. Individualism and Exchange
- ▶ This stage children recognize that there is not just one right view that is handed down by the authorities. Different individuals have different viewpoints
- ▶ At stage 1 punishment is tied up in the child's mind with wrongness; punishment "proves" that disobedience is wrong
- ▶ At stage 2, in contrast, punishment is simply a risk that one naturally wants to avoid

Level 2: Conventional Morality

► Stage 3. Good Interpersonal Relationships

- At this stage children who are by now usually entering their teens see morality as more than simple deals
- They believe that people should live up to the expectations of the family and community and behave in "good" ways
- Good behavior means having good motives and interpersonal feelings such as love, empathy, trust, and concern for others

Level 2: Conventional Morality

- ▶ Stage 4. Maintaining the Social Order
- ▶ Stage 3 reasoning works best in two person relationships with family members or close friends, where one can make a real effort to get to know the other's feelings and needs and try to help.
- ▶ At stage 4 , in contrast, the respondent becomes more broadly concerned with society as a whole. Now the emphasis is on obeying laws, respecting authority, and performing one's duties so that the social order is maintained

Level 3: Post-conventional Morality

► Stage 5 Social Contract and Individual Rights

- At stage 5 people begin to ask, "What makes for a good society?" They begin to think about society in a very theoretical way, stepping back from their own society and considering the rights and values that a society ought to uphold
- They then evaluate existing societies in terms of these prior considerations
- Stage 5 subjects, then, talk about "morality" and "rights" that take some priority over particular laws
- Kohlberg insists, however, that we do not judge people to be at stage 5 merely from their verbal labels. We need to look at their social perspective and mode of reasoning

Level 3: Post-conventional Morality

► Stage 6: Universal Principles

- Kohlberg believes that there must be a higher stage 6 which defines the principles by which we achieve justice
- Kohlberg's conception of justice follows that of the philosophers Kant and Rawls, as well as great moral leaders such as Martin Luther King.
- According to these people, the principles of justice require us to treat the claims of all parties in an impartial manner, respecting the basic dignity, of all people as individuals
- The principles of justice are therefore universal; they apply to all. Thus, for example, we would not vote for a law that aids some people but hurts others. The principles of justice guide us toward decisions based on an equal respect for all

- ▶ At stage 1 Children think of what is right. Doing the right thing is obeying authority and avoiding punishment
- ▶ At stage 2, Children are no longer so impressed by any single authority; they see that there are different sides to any issue. Since everything is relative, one is free to pursue one's own interests, although it is often useful to make deals and exchange favors with others
- ▶ At stages 3 and 4, Young people think as members of the conventional society with its values, norms, and expectations. At stage 3, they emphasize being a good person, which basically means having helpful motives toward people close to. At stage 4, the concern shifts toward obeying laws to maintain society as a whole

- At stages 5 and 6 People are less concerned with maintaining society for its own sake, and more concerned with the principles and values that make for a good society. At stage 5 they emphasize basic rights and the democratic processes that give everyone a say, and at stage 6 they define the principles by which agreement will be most just
